Education Review Report

Purpose

The purpose of ERO's reviews is to give whānau and the wider school community information about the quality of education that the school provides and their children receive. ERO's reports are intended to be clear, concise, constructive and evaluative. An ERO report answers an evaluative question that is developed with the school and whānau. Under the overarching question ERO reports on the quality of education and learning outcomes for children. ERO also reports on self review processes and practices.

Findings

1 Context

Te Kura Māori o Ngā Tapuwae is in Mangere, Auckland and is a member of Ngā Kura ā Iwi o Aotearoa. The whānau has a significant and reciprocal relationship with mana whenua and the Kingitanga. They are committed to maintaining the rights and responsibilities of local iwi.

Ko Te Waiohua , Te Akitai, ko Te Ahiwaru, Te Kawerau a Maki ngā hapū, Ko Waikato te iwi.*

The whānau of Ngā Tapuwae has designed its new buildings and construction begins in 2016. The location of Te Whare Wānanga Pupuri Kōrero o Ngā Tapuwae is the centre point for the new buildings. The connection to the past, present and future is important to all. Multiple generations of whānau, teachers and leaders support the school, its ongoing growth and future focus.

How effectively do learners show they are autonomous, confident, influential, intelligent, decision makers who contribute to society?

Learners are autonomous, confident, influential, intelligent, decision makers.

2 Learner Outcomes

Learners are strong in their language, culture and identity, they are culturate. The school values, respect, responsibility and kindness are touch stones that focus the interactions, manner and behaviour of learners and whānau. Learners learn about themselves, their respective iwi and local iwi, Tainui and Kingitanga. Learners interact with kaumātua from the local marae. Regular opportunities for learners to engage with and understand the importance of caring for their elders are made. Significant kaumātua with expertise in te reo Māori influence and support language and tikanga development and restoration of iwi dialects in an urban setting. The senior management team have high expectations that their integrated curriculum, quality teaching, kaumātua involvement and community connectedness will uphold the value and importance of culture language and identity. Teachers include opportunities for learners to explore te ao Māori. Learners are encouraged to learn about and consider the past and present as they plan for their future. The incorporated society 'Te Huarahi Hou' focus their contribution on the provision of high quality teaching and learning resources and experiences for their children. This group is made up of parents some of whom are ex-students, all are committed to this school and what it stands for.

Learners are literate and numerate. The board of trustees focus on learners' success and invest in developing great leaders and great teachers. The senior management team, led by the principal, set high standards for all and create the opportunities and challenge for deep professional inquiry and ongoing improvement. Teachers collaborate in responsive and innovative ways to provide differentiated learning. The differentiated learning approach is used to personalise learning for all ages from year 1 -13. Learning preferences, passions, needs and strengths of learners influence content and teaching strategies. Although the school is divided by years and levels there is a continuum of learning that supports a seamless education for all learners. Throughout the school learners experience opportunities to make choices, define their learning goals, explore, experiment, question and develop a love for learning. Learners are prompted to reflect on what they do and consider how well they have done. Learners are intellectually and academically successful. Learners make decisions, and have opportunities to lead. The board of trustees, senior managers and teachers make decisions about what will happen for learners, explain why and define the intended impact of their actions. These techniques are modelled to and for learners who are encouraged to be clear about the decisions they make for themselves and their own learning. Learners use different strategies like inquiry and problem solving, to reach specific conclusions. This in turn informs decisions they make about their learning preferences, needs and choices. As learners have clarity for themselves, they are well equipped to help others to learn and share their expertise. At different times and in the differentiated learning environment, learners take on responsibilities that build their individual competence as leaders. Learners are confident leaders who care about the world and are determined to contribute. Learners embody the school motto, 'Inā te mahi, he Rangatira'.

3 Leadership and Internal review

The principal is renowned for her professional leadership, acumen and community minded approach to building leadership. She has established a strong professional and inclusive culture where expectations are high and each member is valued for their knowledge expertise and skill throughout all parts of the school operations. She creates opportunities for others to excel as leaders, share their abilities and contribute to educational success. Intergenerational success is captured through the strong relationships between mana whenua, elders, teachers and learners.

High level internal evaluation provides a continuing impetus for innovation and change. There is a systematic drive for critical thinking and inquiry that is evidence based. Comprehensive inquiry provides considerable insight into what is happening. This leads to additional investigation alongside focused monitoring and tracking. The thinking space provides real opportunity for collaborative sense making. Feedback loops are used to include multiple voices, decision making and prioritising. These internal evaluation strategies and approaches support whānau, hapū, iwi, teachers and learners to understand how to focus on achieving high quality aspirations.

School-identified areas of development

Te Kura Maori o Ngā Tapuwae has identified that:

- They will continue to utilise effective evaluation systems for ongoing innovation and change.

4 Board assurance on legal requirements

Before the review, the board of trustees and principal completed the ERO Board Assurance Statement and Self-Audit Checklists. In these documents they attested that they had taken all reasonable steps to meet their legislative obligations related to:

- board administration
- curriculum
- management of health, safety and welfare
- personnel management
- financial management
- asset management.

During the review, ERO checked the following items because they have a potentially high impact on student achievement:

- emotional safety of students (including prevention of bullying and sexual harassment)
- physical safety of students
- teacher registration
- processes for appointing staff
- stand-downs, suspensions, expulsions and exclusions
- attendance.

Conclusion

Learners embody the school motto, ‘Inā te mahi, he Rangatira’. Learners are autonomous, confident, influential, intelligent, decision makers. They are intellectually and academically independent. Te Kura Māori o Ngā Tapuwae is in Mangere, Auckland and is a member of Ngā Kura ā Iwi o Aotearoa Incorporated.

When is ERO likely to review the school again?

ERO is likely to carry out the next review in four-to-five years.
